A CABINET VACANCY.

Postmaster General Bissell Tenders His Resignation.

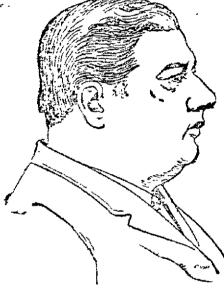

IN HARMONY WITH THE PRESIDENT

The Reasons for His Retirement Wholly Personal-The Retiring Official and the President Talk of Their Cordial Relations. Congressman Wilson May Succeed Hlm.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 .- Postmaster General Wilson S. Bissell late yesterday afternoon placed his resignation as a member of the cabinet in the hands of President Cleveland, to be accepted upon the appointment of his successor. Though the rumers of the coming retirement of Mr. Bissell have been rife for some time, the official announcement caused something of a sensation. The fact spread rapidly through the hotels and clubs, and the discussion of the chances of congress passing all the appropriation bills quickly gave way to speculation as to who will be the next postmaster general.

The statements which have been made that a disagreement between the president and Mr. Bissell caused the resignation were known by almost all in official circles to be without the slightest foundation, and therefore the usual interest and gossip which usually attach s to the retirement of a member of a cabinet were entirely lacking in this case, as it was considered by all that only the personal desire of Mr. Bissell to resume his lucrative law practice actuated him in taking the step which he did.

An Associated Press reporter called on the postmaster general, and in reply to queries Mr. Bissell said:

"I have placed my resignation in the hands of the president. The reason for so doing is that my professional work at art prion, and I feel that I carnot forcer remain away from it.

"The business of the department is in good condition and as transfer to any successor can be made without affecting the public service. I have found my work agreeable aith sugh at times quiteonerous. I confess I have it with regret, because I have become deeply interested in it and had a desire to accomplish something more in the development of the postal service than I have found possible in these two years of effort

"I deeply regret, also, that I am thus compelled to sever official relations with the president and his cabinet, which have been most satisfactory and cordial through-

"Perhaps, without impropriety, I may now say that all ramors of disagreement between the president and any of his cabinet have been without foundation. I doubt if ever there was a more harmonious cabinet than the present one, and its members are a unit in support of the president on every public question."

Everywhere were heard sincere expressions of regret at Mr. Bisself's retirement. At the White House the president said: "It surely is not necessary for me to say that I shall release Mr. Bissell with the utmost regret. All of his associates in the administration will feel that they have lost a colleague who in all respects was a valuable factor in their executive labors. as well as a companion to whom they have become greatly attached. I am not taken by surprise, for I have known for some time that it was inevitable, because Mr. Bissell's reasons for his action were of a personal nature and were inexorable. Still this first break in a cabinet which has been, in the midst of many perplexing situations, entirely harmonious, all actuated by loyal devotion to the public interests and pervaded in a marked degree by the personal attachments which such connections cannot fail to create, causes us all real sorrow. Much gratification awaits Mr. Bissell in the appreciation of his countrymen of his splendid and valuable public service. Though in the departmental and congressional circles the air was filled with the names of possible candidates to succeed Mr. Bissell, from states ranging from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and to Florida in the south, still the feeling was uppermost among most of the men in official life that the president would reward in some way the untiring devotion of Congressman William L. Wilson, of West Virginia. And it can be stated that, unless the president changes his mind, Mr. Wilson's name will go to the senate as the successor of Mr. Bissell, and it is more than probable that he will be honored by an immediate confirmation on the part of the senate, as was Senator Ransom, a few days since, when he was appointed minister to Mexico-Perhaps no member of Mr. Cleveland's cabinet has been a more trusted adviser of the president than has Mr. Bissell. The president learned his worth as a man of thorough business capacity and administrative ability when they were associated as members of the same law firm in Buffalo. The fast friendship which was then formed remained while Mr. Cleveland sucressively stepped from the office of mayor of Buffalo to the White House, and when was from his personal desire that Mr. Bistell accepted a place in his cabinet.

For Alleged Complicity with Taylor. PIERRE, S. D., Feb. 28.-The city has been thrown into a fever of excitement by the arrest of Charles T. McCoy for complicity in the defalcation of State Treasurer W. W. Taylor. Attorney General Crawford swore out the warrant on information furnished by the legislative investigating committee. Conspiracy is also charged against John S. McChesney, of New York, and Daniel K. Tenny and Charles H. Wells, of Chicago, and civil suits will be begun against them.

THE UPRISING IN CUBA.

The Spanish Minister at Washington Declares It Incipient.

Washington, Feb. 28. - Secretary of State Gresham received a cablegram yesterday from Consul General Williams at Havana saying that owing to the continuance of rebellion near Santiago de Cubaand Matanzas, which began Feb. 24, the governor general has issued a proclamation declaring those provinces in a state of war, the civil authorities continuing in the exercise of their functions. He also offers full pardon to all insurgents who submit to legal authorities within eight days. The rest of the island is reported tranquil. All recognized political parties have given support to the government.

Minister Muruaga, of Spain, said last night that he had received a dispatch from Key West, Fla., announcing that a party of illibusterers had organized there and was about to start for Cuba to stir up a revolution on the island. The minister's dispatch said that the United States revenue cutter, which is usually on duty at Key West, was absent from its post, and there was no force on hand to prevent the threatened invasion. The disputch gave no particulars as to the strength of the party or the vessel or vessels it had secured to carry it to Cuba. The exact time of its starting was apparently unknown, but it was expected to start soon. Discussing the matter Senor Murnaga said: "The report that there is a concerted organized revolution in Cuba is untrue. There have been only two or three unimportant outbreaks. The insurrectionists have no leader and no organization, and can do nothing. As a matter of course, their friends in this country and elsewhere give out misleading reports in the hope of strengthening their cause. I very much regret the absence of the United States revenue cutter, which ought to be at Key West, and could easily prevent an invasion of Cuba from American soil."

The distance from Key West to Cuba is very short and easily traversed. A dispatch received from Havana says that Garcia, a famous Cuban bandic, and a companion were shot yesterday in that city by government soldiers.

IN SENATE AND HOUSE.

Financial Issues Suddenly Side Tracked in the Upper Body. WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 .- When the senate adjourned yesterday it was with the agree-ment that a rote shall be taken on the sundry civil bill at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The financial issue, which has hung like a great menacing cloud over the senate chamber for many weeks, was suddenly and permanently dissipated. For four hours there was a storm of debate in which the most conspicuous financial figures of the senate were listened to by crowded galleries. And then Mr. Gorman, whose financial amendment had brought on the contest, withdrow the proposition, and the subject was summarily disposed of. A moment later Mr. Mills' proposition to repeal the laws authorizing the issue of bonds was cut off by a ruling of the chair that it was out of order. Thus the finanhal issue which had threatened serious delay to the appropriation bill was unexpectedly swept away. Mr. Gorman made the principal speech in advocacy of the proposition for authorizing $100,000,000 of debt certificates to meet treasury deficiencies. Mr. Teller finally moved to lay the Gorman amendment on the table, and this was the signal for Mr. Gorman's final move in withdrawing the proposition Work on the sundry civil bill was then

The day was wasted in the house, so far as the purposes for what the day was set aside were concerned—namely, to consider bills reported from the committee on public buildings and grounds. Only one bill was called up, that to purchase what is known as the Mahone site for a new pubhe printing office, but after a wrangle of several hours the house got into a parliamentary tangle, which necessitated the abandonment of the bill. The conference reports on the bill to prohibit the importation of goods in bond through the United States into the Mexican free zone and on the pension and postoffice appropriation bills were agreed to. Several pension and other bills of minor importance were

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

Spectators Disgusted with the Disorderly Actions of Legislators.

HARRISBURG, Feb 28 .- The order of business in the house yesterday was bills on second reading. The entire morning session was taken up in consideration of the measure pro-iding relief and employment for the poor of the commonwealth. It provides for the erection of poorhouses in counties not now operating under a special poor law by directors of the poor, who shall receive $3 a day. Strong objection was made to the bill by the members from the rural districts on the ground that if it became a law it would compel counties not having poorhouses to either build such institutions or send their poor to counties having poorhouses.

Numberless amendments were offered by the opponents of the measure in the hope of killing it, but they were promptly voted down. During the debate Mr. Develin, of Philadelphia, took the chair, and while he presided the house was a veritable bear garden. The members cheered and waived their handkerchiefs, to the astonishment and disgust of the spectators, many of whom were ladies.

The house went wild when Mr. Spangler, of Cumberland, arose to speak on the Lytle amendment that the act shall not apply to counties having poorhouses. Every word he uttered was greeted with cheers and clappings of hands. For five minutes pandemonium reigned, while the speaker pro tem. pounded vigorously for order. When order was finally restored Mr. Spangler said the Cumberland county poorhouse and prison were overcrowded, and that the prople had to take care of the poor on the outside of these institutions as well as the paupers of other counties. The Lytle amendment was finally de-

In the senate bills passed finally: To authorize school directors or controllers to establish out of the public school treasury free kindergartens for children under 6 years of age; to authorize the erection of suitable buildings in which to hold elections, store road machinery and transact township business.

A short recess was taken to be occupied in ceremonies incident to the presentation of a magnificent silver service to ex-Lientenant Governor Watres by his senatorial friends. The chamber was crowded to its utmost capacity, among those present being many state officials and their wives, including Mrs. Hastings. Senator Mc-Carrell delivered the presentation speech, to which the recipient of the gift responded most feelingly.

ANOTHER MINE HORROR

Exploding Gas Brings Sorrow to Many Families.

TWENTY-SIX PROBABLY KILLED.

Eleven Men Taken from the Fiery Furnace, but It Is Relieved That All of These Will Die from Their Injur.cy-Taking Out the Dead Bodies.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 28. — A special to The Morning Democrat says: White Ash coal mines, three miles from Cerrillos, were the scene of a terrible explosion yesterday. Thirty-seven men were working in four levels when the disaster occurred. Eleven of these have so far been rescued, all in a dying condition. The remaining twenty-six have doubtless perished. Over twenty dead bodies have been recovered.

The scenes at the identification of the wounded and dead were heartrending. The miners are all married, and when the news of the disaster spread, wives and children hurried from Waldo and Madrid. Not until this evening were searchers able to descend, owing to the poisonous vapors. In the course of half an hour several dead were sent up. Then it was feared not a soul of the thirty-seven had escaped.

Later in the evening eleven dying miners were discovered in a bunen. They were probably overcome in an effort to escape. The explosion is thought to have been due to accidental breaking into an abandoned chamber charged with gas.

The sight about the mine was heartrending in the extreme. Frantic wives, many of them carrying babes in their arms, having children clinging to their skirts, stood at the entrance of the mine for hours amid tears and prayers, while hundreds of men vainly struggled to gain an entrance further into the mine. -So dense was the smoke at one time during the afternoon that many thought the mine had taken fire, and the conduct of the wives and mothers when this was announced as a probability was painful in the extreme.

Up to 5 o'clock the gas continued to pour forth from the single opening in the mine in such a volume as to make the progress of the rescuers very difficult, but an hour later the noxious vapors cleared away, and the work of rescuing the dead bodies began to prove more successful.

Many camp fires dor the scene, and the anguish of the women and children hovering about them, hoping for the best and urging the men on in their endeavors to reach the cotential, while others are clinging to their dead or ministering to those brought out alive, presents a picture of human anguish sendom witnessed.

SLATTERY WILL SPEAK.

The Right of Free Speech Will be Upheld in Savannah.

BARRED OUT OF MASONIC HALL.

The Ex-Priest, However, Will Secure Another Hall, and the Citizens Will Protect Him from Mob Violence-Another Day

SAVANNAH, Feb. 28.--Yesterday was a day of great excitement here. There was one general expression of opinion, and that was that Slattery should lecture again if he desired, it it took the whole military force and half the citizens to proteet him. Prominent Catholics unite in this opinion, and declare that nearly all of those participating in Tuesday night's riot were non-churchgoers. It has ceased to be a case of an ex-priest desiring to lecture, and has become in the minds of many a question of the preservation of the right of free speech in Savannah.

Mrs Slattery was booked to lecture to women at Masonic Temple yesterday afternoon, and at 1 o'clock, under police escort, she and her husband were taken to the hall. Prior to this the managers of the Men's Hebrew association had notified Slattery that they would break the con-tract and refuse to allow the use of the hall which they have leased, as his language incited to riot and endangered the lives and property of citizens. Slattery would not consider the contract broken.

Arriving at the hall the police refused to admit any one. Several hundred women were turned away. Slattery and President Haas, of the Hebrew association, became involved in a wordy dispute, and the chief put Slattery under arrest, but released hun, as Haas declined to enter any charge.

After Slattery had waited an hour for a lawyer it was decided that he and his wife would go back to the hotel. The police were ordered in line and the mounted officers decided to clear the streets at once. Hundreds of people ran wild to get a glimpse of them. A crowd of women had been grouped just outside of the curb on Bull street, and as the ex-priest and wife passed they were hissed foully and spat at. The police had their hands full to keep the passageway clear.

When the Pulaski House was reached it was almost impossible to see the hotel for the people who had congregated. The Masonic hall would have been unable to have held the women if it had been opened. Finding the hall locked, many came down to the Pulaski House. There Mrs. Slattery held a reception. Hundreds called on her, and some tendered her the use of their parlors to lecture in. Such a scene had never been seen before in this city. At one time over a hundred women were in the hotel parlor, crowded about the ex-nun. If the lecture had been held at the hall hundreds of citizens would have gathered around it to protect those inside if the at-lacks by roughs had been resumed. The refusal to let Slattery have the hall is being severely criticized. He is making arrangements to becture at Old Fellows' hall tonight, and the outlook is that there will be a thousand men out to hear him. The entire police force will be on hand, and some of the military commanies will probably be held in reserve at their ar-

To this letter Commissioner Waring has sent a reply, in which he says: "I regard your organization as being an antilabor organization, opposed to workingmen and opposed to work-an association carried on in the interest of idleness. I believe its chief cause of existence to be that your leaders may carn your salary by making miscrief. KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and ends to personal enjoyment when ightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly idapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid axative principles embraced in the emedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakming them and it is perfectly free from very objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50 cent bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

STRANGE SCENE AT A REVIVAL. People Professing to Teach Christianity surprised that Catholies are Chris"

From the Vingston Leader.

A Highland correspondent sends the following description of an unusual scene that occurred there recently. Not the least remarkable point is the dense ignorance displayed by the young man whose opinion is last quoted:

The revivals in the M. E Church still continue. Last Friday the meeting was rather surprised by hearing | Cure and Headache Cure in my faman unusual kind of testimony. A man of the Romish persuasion entered the church, and as the persons present were exhorted to speak, this individual arose and repeated the apostles' creed, including the words, "I believe in the ho!y catholic church." After finishing the creed he proceeded to make other prayers from the Catholic liturgy, signing himself with the cross. The minister, the Rev. Mr. Reynolds, allowed him to go on, saying that it was his belief and he was sincere. After fin-ishing the prayers he said he was not prejudiced and thought it better to come here than to spend his time at a saloon. He resides in the town and is a worthy citizen, but at times corsidered rather peculiar, his mind running on religion. The little incident, however, is not without an instructive effect, as a young man said he never knew before that the Catholics believed in Christ, but only in the Virgin Mary.

If the bill making it a penal offense to ask candidates for office to buy tickets to balls, picnics, etc., should hecome a law, Middletown business men would be tempted to organize a score or two of independent parties, and nominate themselves for office every day in the year.

The prospects of the Democratic candidates for city offices grow brighter with each succeeding day. The Republican campaign is being badly botched and boggled, and citizens who do their own thinking are beginning to realize that the best interests of the city will be promoted by the election of the Democratic candidate*.

There are two Democrats in the present Common Council and their terms both expire this spring. It is rising to a question of privilege. If the citizens of Middletown are wise they will elect Democratic Aldermen in all the wards, next week.

The three-cornered fight over Excise Commissioner is likely to be interesting. Since the Liquor Dealers' As ociation has put the stamp of its approval on the Republican candidate, Mr Cox, a good many Republicans have declared that they will Louis Pfarr was fatally injured by not support him. Mr. Coddington, the Democratic candidate, is making | while looking at the ruins. Loss a lively canvass. He is unhampered by pledges and bears no association's ear-marks, and if elected will do his full duty to the whole people. Mr. Hill, the Prohibition candidate, is likely to poll a large vote, a great many citizens who are not Prohibitionists having declared their intention of voting for him as the best means of breaking the combination of liquor dealers with the Republicans, while others believe that the presence of a no-license man in the Board would act as a wholesome check on the other members.

THE GRAB-ALL POLICY.

The Republican majority in the Legislature, in its anxiety to grab all the offices, has not been at all consistent; in fact it has adhered to no principle or precedent in its efforts to get Democrats out of office and to put Republicans in their places, but in the case of each city or village has so legislated as to most easily and quickly secure the end in view, the transfer of power to Republican control. Yesterday, when the West Troy Police bill, a wonderful hodge-podge of partisan legislation, which provides for two elective and two appointive commissioners, was before the Senate, Mr. Guy most effectually satirized the Republican grab-all policy of legislation by proposing the following substitute for the pending

I' is believed that owing to a div - in between the rebels themselves over the selection of a leader of the movement, the plans and names of the revolutionists were betrayed to government's repleaentatives. Some rebels demanded the selection of a notorious brigand Manuel Garia as leader, but others opposed him on the ground that his selection would mean the loss of the sympathy and support of many citizens.

On the day the Orzaba sailed, Sunday last, the rebel General Sauguili and a number of members of the first families in Cuba were arrested and imprisored and a report was circulated that 300 others were to be arrested on suspicion of sympathizing with the rebels.

The origin of the fire is a mystery but is supposed to have been the work of tramps or an incendiary. The building was about sixty feet wide, and contained a number of tools and farm machinery and several tons of hay.

The following implements were totally destroyed: One mowing maonine, one horse rake, one cart, one wagon, eight plows, one harrow, one screen, one sand boring machine and a lot of harness.

A large three-horse sand wagon standing a few feet south of the barn was not even scorched, the wind being from the south.

A FORMER MIDDLETOWNER'S SUICIDE

He Shoots Himself in a Brooklyn Ho tel-Supposed to Have Been Insane.

George L. Miller committed suicide at Muller's Hotel in Brooklyn,at 10:30 a. m., yesterday.

He was found dead in his room with a revolver in his hand and the blood flowing from a wound in his temple. He left a letter to the proprietor of the hotel asking his pardon for killing himself in his house and saying that sorrow and trouble drove him to commit the dead.

At about the same moment the police were notified of the suicide, Miller's wife came to the station and asked that her husband be arrested and turned over to the Charities departmenf and sent to a hospital, as she believed him insane. She said a physician had pronounced her husband afflicted with an incurable disease and it had driven him to drink.

George L. Miller was for many years a resident of this city and will be remembered by many of our citizens. He was employed as a clerk by the firm of Denton, Barker & Graham. When he left Middletown, a number of years ago, he took a position in the large leather house of Hoyt Brothers in New York, which he held until a short time ago.

DELAYED DISPATCH.

I had never been left alone in charge of the office before. It was a cold, blustery day in January, one of those dreary winter days that make one feel so melancholy and blue, the wind shricking about the building and the snow falling thickly in great white flakes, which seemed to be vying with each other for a comfortable spot on which to fall when reaching the friendly bosom of earth. Old Sol had not favored us with a smile all day, but had sulkily hidden his face behind the gray restless clouds. It was truly a dismal afternoon.

The office building in which I was domiciled was one of those dreary old country stations which seemed to be dropped along the side of the railroad track at intervals without an effort at making them other than what they are, both uncomfortable and unsightly.

The little town of B- was a sleepy little village of about 900 inhabitants, built down in a valley, surrounded by hills, from which flowed an abundance of beautiful, clear, pure spring water, supplying the humble, contented cirizens. Today the place presented a picturesque appearance. The snow had been falling heavily during the night, and the trees, fences, housetops, bushes and streets were completely covered with the "beautiful."

The principal street of the village ended at the foot of the long winding hill which served as a coasting place for the merry young people. The only sign of life about the place this memorable afternoon was the occasional jingle of sleighbells wafted to my ears on the frosty air as some farmer's boy took advantage of the deep snow to exhibit his new sleigh, and a merchant now and then coming to the station for his small shipments. One or two disconsolate looking tramps passed my office, tradging along through the snow, casting an envious glance in my direction as I sat in the bow window.

This cold wintry day, as I sat in the little office listening intently to the tick of the two instruments on the table in front of me, little did I dream that it was to be the one eventful day of my life. Looking from the windows, I could see cast and west of me the straight line of track stretching away like two silver reptiles running side by side over a vast white sheet. A short distance north of the office was the old woolen mill of Bartlet & Sons, from which issued the sound of the morry wheels as they hummed in busy unison with the click of the looms, keeping company with my wandering thoughts.

At a distance of perhaps a quarter of a mile on each side of my office were two curves, preventing my seeing a train approach the station from either direction until the shrill whistle of the engine called for my signal or down brakes.

I had just learned telegraphy, or thought I had, having studied it about four months, and had become proficient enough, as my sanguine teacher avowed, to fill the place with perfect safety while he made a pleasure trip to Louisville, the center of gravity for him. I remember I had serious misgivings as to my ability to take care of the office work and sat with tears trembling on my eyelashes long after the train bearing my only assistance had disappeared and felt very much depressed, as though on the eve of some great calamity.

To throw off this dreadful feeling I walked to the waiting room and back several times, humming a popular air to keep up my spirits. I think I had been thus occupied an hour or so when I heard the train dispatcher at "M" giving an order to the operator at Wilmington for No. 48, a freight train coming east. It read: "Train No. 48, engine 236, has until eleven ten (11:10) a. m. to run to Raysville for No. 11, engine 245.—R. G. L."

I went to the table and copied the order as it was given, simply doing so to pass the time, and heard the operator at Wilmington receive it and give the signatures of both conductor and engineer of No. 48, the dispatcher giving bim the correct time. Then I noted Wilmington reporting No. 48 out of his station at 10:10 a.m. After an interval of half an hour or so the operator at "M." asked if there were any orders for No. 111, receiving a negative answer from the dispatcher. All this I noted casually, not thinking for a moment that it had the slightest interest for me, other than something to copy, and in blissful ignorance that we were on the verge of a terrible catastrophe.

In a few moments, while lazily gazing west from my window, I saw a hazy, dark mist curling up over the snow capped trees in the distance, which looked very much like smoke from an engine, and while I was conacturing as to what it might mean I heard the signal for my target as it sung around the curve into sight. It struck me as long exceedingly strange that No. 48, a freight train, was runming to "M.," regardless of the limited, and I concluded to inform the dispatcher of the onusual situation, telling him "No. 48 is coming." He answered "O. K.," and then I gave them my signal to go ahead. Just to they were rounding the east curve, the enboose just disappearing, "M" called me and asked, "Is No. 18 on the seeing?" I told him "No;" that they had just left the station, giving the time they had passed.

His reply: "My Co I, has No. 48 gone! No 111 is pulling out. They will collide. Can't you get No. 48?" My harr felt as though it was raising off my head, chills chased themselves up and down my spine, and the cold perspiration poured down my pallid checks as I rushed with all speed and less grace from the office and frantically waved a white apron I were and which I tore off as I ran, but the crew of the freight failed to look back as the caboose sailed round the curve, and my heart almost failed me as I realized that the only hope now was to catch No. 111 before they left "M."

I ran back into my office and sank into a chair, no longer able to stand on my feet, searcely breathing until in a few-hours it seemed to me, but in reality—seconds the dispatcher called me, saying, "We've got No. 11." Were ever words so sweet to mortal ears? The tick of that little brass sounder as it rang those words through the room was like sweet music, so welcome were they

How did they get No. 111? I will tell you. When I told the dispatcher that No. 48 was beyond recall, he opened a window in mad haste and screamed to the people on the platform below him, "For God's sake, stop that train!" And they, realizing that something was ter-ribly wrong, rushed after the rapidly disappearing train, frantically waving handkerchicfs and umbrellas, screaming like madmen, finally attracting the attention of the rear brakeman just as No. 111 was going out of sight and hearing. They backed up on a siding and waited, and soon the freight train pulled into "M." station, the crew as unconcerned as though they had not just escaped a smashup and the possibilities of instant death a few moments before.

A white faced operator, with trembling lips, leaned out of the window and asked them, "Haven't you forgotten something?" And the forgotten order was suddenly remembered, but too late for them.

The whole crew was of course discharged, and I-well, when these welcome words were ticked off that dear old sounder, telling me that No. 111's crew and passengers were safe. I lost consciousness and only came back to life in time to hear the conductor of No. 111 say to his engineer: "Poor girl, she has fainted. She is almost frightened to

Had I not warned the dispatcher in time for him to catch the passenger train, there would have been a horrible collision, and we can only picture to ourselves the horrors accompanying such a catastrophe.

My neward was a position with the company and a hand-one gold watch. I staid with the company but a short time, however, for I never could core myself of the horror I had of railroad telegraphing produced by my tarrible experience that wintry day in January, and as I write this story, sitting here in my cozy little sitting room by a bright coal fire, watching the flames creeping around the black diamonds in the grate, as I go over the scenes and situations of that divary afternoon, I shudder and wonder if old Father Time will ever enable me to ferget that dreadful experience, so that I can speak of it all without a shudder.—Northwest Magazine.

Russian Traits.

The Russians are lazy and effeminate. In the winter they seldom walk, and when they do so they crawl along, muffled up in furs, and do not move with any briskness. One sees a great many military officers in Moscow, and their want of smartness is voticeable. Numbers are always to be seen lounging about the boulevards with their hands in the pockets of their gray overcoats. These boulevard warriors do not look very formidable. The Cossacks are dirty looking ruffians, badly dressed and mounted on small horses, which are said to be excellent animals, possessing wonderful staying power. I was told by an officer that the Cossacks have degenerated very much and have been spoiled by being turned into regulars. The Cossacks of the Don especially have deteriorated, but those of the Caucasian re-Those Umbrella Covers gious are fine soldiers.

One of the worst characteristics of the Russians is their dishenesty in trade. In Moscow, even in many of the best sliops, one has to bargain for purchases, as a much higher price than is expected anything in this line ever is always asked. In this way foreigners in Moscow no doubt frequently pay three or four times the necessary price for articles. In the same way one has to bargain for everything, and this, in my opinion, constitutes one of the most disagreeable things connected with life in Russia. One always imagines that one is being swindled, and too frequently, no doubt, the idea is not a vam one.

That the Russians are a dirty people is well known. Very few houses have even a footbath in them, and although there are fine public baths the Russians, even of the upper classes, seldom make use of them. Indeed I believe the lower orders are cleaner in this respect. -Westminster Review.

His Broken Rest.

It seems the tax collector had been diligently searching for Oscar a considerable time when one morning he discovered the descendant of the O'Flahertys issuing from his house in Tito street. The collector demanded certain payments, which Oscar refused to make. "But, Mr. Wilde, this is your house. You occupy it. I've just seen you coming out of it. You must live there."

"Most positively I do not." "At any rate," retorted the now slightly exasperated man, "you do what legally constitutes living in the house. You sleep there. You don't deny that." "But, my dear man," Oscar answered languidly, stifling a yawn, "you must

In the middle of the night he was awakened by the sound of a voice at his elbow. "Midnight has struck!" it said in hollow but resonant tones. "Prepare to meet thy God!"

The grest was out of bed in haste. He must be the victim of some hallucination. There was no one in the room. His would be a fine case for the "psychical research" people. FATAL FIRE AT LIBERTY.

A Bouse and saw Mill Destroyed-A Woman Perishes in the Flames.

The large saw mills of E. A. Van Fredenburg, at Liberty, took fire, last night, and were totally destroyed. The flames spread to the house near by and it too was devoured by the flames.

Mrs. Coventry, an aged lady, the mother of Mrs. Van Fredenberg, persished in the flames.

The hydrants were frezen up and the firemen could get no water with which to fight the fire except the little that could be carried from the wells, and the fire soon got beyond

It is understood there was no insurance on the property.

SUICIDE AT LIBERTY.

A Well Known Citizen Takes Laudanum and Dies.

Mr. F. W. Lamoreaux, aged thirtyfive, a well known wagon maker of Liberty, swallowed two ounces of laudanum, on Tuesday evening, from which he died at 10 o'clock, last night. He leaves a wife and two children. Business and domestic troubles are supposed to have been the cause of his troubles. He had given evidence of mental trouble for a week past.

MECHANICAL DRAWINGS.

An Exhibit from the Middletown Y. M. C, A, Receives High Praise at the Syracuse Convention.

In the educational exhibit at the Syracuse convention last week there appeared an exhibit of mechanical drawings from the Middletown Young Men's Christian Association which received high praise. It was prepared by Mr. Llewelyn Morgan. This class has been ing the past two winters and is under the Instruction of Mr. David E. Lain. The pupils are young men who are learning trades, and who do this work evenings. These classes are a part of the privileges of the association. The drawings will also be sent to the International Convenzion at Springfield, Mass., in May.

A SPLENDID PERFORMANCE.

Mearty Praise for Hi Reary's Minstrels From the York, Pa., Da'ry.

Hi Henry's Minstrel's gave a splendid performance to a large audience, last night. The costumes used in the first part wore handsome, and the scenery very claborate. The vocal selections, solos, quintettes and choruses by the company were ably rendered and received hearty applause. The duncing, acrobatic feats by ; the Rextord Bros., club swinging, comic specialties, were all that could be desired. A pleasing feature was introduced between the Arst and second parts. It consisted of a number of fine stereopticon views, of scenes taken from all parts of the world. Hi Henry detighted the audience with several solos on his superb gold cornet. "The Marching Gladiators" and living pictures, in imitation of classic marble statuary, concluded the programme.

The troupe travels sumptuously in an elaborate railway coach. It is probably the finest ear of the kind in existence. They virtually live in it, and luxuriously, too.

Buawed off the Child's Big Too.

A peculiar accident happened to the young son of Mr. and Mrs. James Eccleston, of Norwich, Chenango county, a few nights ago. They were awakened by the screams of the little (ne and upon investigation found that a rat had crawled into the crib and gnawed off a portion of the sleeper's big toe on his left foot. The leg began to swell rap'dly and medical aid was summoned. It was thought at first blood poisoning would set in, but at present the child Is doing nicely.

An Advantage in Being Tall.

While there are some disadvantages in being taller than ordinary mortals, there are some compensations for an extended anatomy. Conductor Adgate, of the electric road, is the tallest man in the company's employment, and has the advantage over all other conductors in that be can stand on the steps of his car and touch the button or pull down the signal rope at most of the block signel stations, while the other fellows have to get off the cars to do it.

Hiustrated Lecture at the Second Presbyterian Church,

Mi. H. H. Ragan will present his popular lecture entitled, "The Yosemite and the Yellowstone," illustrated by about 100 magnificent stereopticon views, at the Second Presbyterian Church, Thursday evening. March 7th. The Los Angeles, Cal., Times says of Mr. Ragan's lecture: To say that the evening proved one of pleasure and profit to all present would but feebly express the truth of the matter. For nearly two hours Mr. Ragan held the close attention of the audience, and his fluent speech, highly descriptive all the while and strikingly elequent at times, together with the magificent illustrations, delighted all who were fortunate erough to be present. Many of the illustrations were tinted in natural colors, and created a most realistic effect.

A GOOD INDICATION

Medical practitioners of prominence are prescribing for the cure of diseases springing from derangement of the digestive organs, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. This professional endorsement is justified by the fact that no other preparation has been found so efficaclour in that class of disorders even in the most advanced and severe flammation of the kidneys, where all other medicines had failed. It can be purchased of any druggist. A book is wrapped about each bottle, explaining its use.

WHY NOT EXEMPT LAND, TOO?

Mr. Dean's Bilis to Exempt Nearly Everything from Taxation.

Hon Joseph Dean is troduced in the Assemby, Tuesday, two bills making the following exemptions from taxation: All improvements of, in or upon land; all machinery, implements, tools, horses, wagons and personal property used in manufactures; all merchandise used in trade; all household goods and furniture not exceeding in value the sum of $2,000; all drains, fences, planted trees, houses, outbuildings, factories, stores and other improvements of, in or upon land; all agricultural implements, farm stock, machinery, tools, utensils, merchandise and furniture.

If Mr. Dean would only go a little further and exemptland, there would be nothing left to tax, and New York would be made a veritable Utopia for tax dodgers.

The Supervisors Mandamnsed in the Town of Weodbury Case.

ment of the Ostrander claim, about $900, and all other similar claims against Woodbury. June 11th was named in the order because the Supervisors are required by the new constitution to meet on that day and reapportion the county into two Assembly districts.
